Dear Parents/Carers

It's been lovely to welcome the children back to school this week and see them happy and settled. There is a positive atmosphere in school and although this is a short half term, there is lots to do!

This week, I have spoken to children, from each class, about reading. They told me how much they enjoy using the reading areas in each classroom and how we have a great range of books for them to read. The children were knowledgeable about their class texts and they were able to compare them to other stories they have read. Darcie, from Y4 even lent me a copy of their class text – so I know what I'll be doing this weekend!

As you know aspiration is one of our values and academic achievement is important to us so it was great to give out so many certificates, in assembly this morning, for children who have worked hard this week. We also place a high value on our other values of love and forgiveness and it was wonderful to also give out certificates for children who have been kind and caring, who have helped others and who are great role models.

I hope you all have a lovely weekend, spring is definitely on it's way.

Best wishes

Sally Inskip-Ward
